SENIOR REGISTRATION

Under the present arrangement for senior work the members of the class register in the autumn, begin work upon their bibliographies or theses at that time, and report for the instructional period early in February. The present class consists of ten persons, seven of whom are candidates for the diploma, and three who are taking only one or two courses while holding positions. Its members show a high average of experience, and represent four library schools besides our own. The roll is as follows:

Bagley, Helen A., first year work at University of Illinois Library School, 1904-05. On leave from position as librarian of Oak Park (Ill.) Public Library.

* Brown, Ida N., certificate, Library School of The New York Public Library, 1921. Now assistant in Economics Division, The New York Public Library.

Edmonds, Jean L., certificate, Library School of The New York Public Library, 1921. On leave from position as assistant in Preparation Division, The New York Public Library.

Hinman, Katharine D., certificate, Library School of The New York Public Library, 1921. Formerly assistant in reorganization of the New Brunswick (N.J.) Public Library.

* Kenney, Josephine E., certificate, Library School of The New York Public Library, 1919. Now assistant in Circulation Department, The New York Public Library.

King, Edgar W., certificate, Library School of The New York Public Library, 1921. Spent first semester of present year in studying toward masters' degree at Columbia University.

Smith, Mellie M., certificate, Drexel Institute Library School, 1909. Formerly librarian, University of the City of Toledo.

Stephens, Eleanor S., first year work at University of Washington Library School, 1913-14. On leave from position as librarian of the Yakima (Wash.) Public Library.

Vaughan, Mrs. Nancy B., certificate, Library School of the Los Angeles Public Library, 1920. Formerly librarian, The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, New York.

* Wiecking, Emma, certificate, Library School of The New York Public Library, 1921. Now reviser at the Library School of The New York Public Library.

* Not a candidate for diploma.

THE THURSDAY EVENING LECTURE COURSE

The Thursday evening course in Advanced Book Selection, which is a part of the senior curriculum, is again open to librarians generally, without fee and without formal registration. The programme as arranged by Miss Jackson includes lectures by Mr. Henry W. Kent, Dr. John Erskine, Mr. Rollo Ogden, Mr. Alfred Harcourt, Mrs. Martha Brookes Hutcheson, Dr. Carl Van Doren and Dean Howard Chandler Robbins, and a number of round tables led by members of the Faculty and Library Staff.

Preceding each lecture in this course a cafeteria supper is served in the lunch room under the direction of the Professional Committee of The New York Public Library Staff Association. The proceeds from these suppers are to be devoted in part to paying the expenses of a member, or members, of the Library Staff at the annual meeting of the New York Library Association in September, and in part to meeting the living expenses of some member of the Library Staff who may be selected to enter the Library School. Although the Staff Association has charge of providing the supper for the entire series, it has assigned one evening to the Junior class of the Library School, which will manage the supper on March 16th and use the profits as a contribution to the Plummer Fund.

OPEN COURSES

There is a good attendance again this year at the courses which are open to auditors. Library workers are enrolled not alone from The New York Public Library and from other libraries in the New York district, but from Providence, Detroit, Toronto, Wichita Falls, Texas, Winona, Minnesota, and Fort Benton, Montana. The class enrollment is over one hundred, exclusive of the audience at the Thursday evening book selection lectures, at which the attendance is sometimes nearly two hundred.

THE LIBRARY INSTITUTE

In May for the last two years the School has entertained an institute for the library workers of Westchester and Rockland Counties and Western Long Island, held under the direction of the Committee on Institutes of the New York State Library Association. Both times about seventy persons have been present, in addition to the Faculty and students, who have attended as a part of their work. The Institute seems to have been much appreciated, and the School's part in it seems to have been valued by the State Library officers who are responsible for the organizing of such gatherings. It is expected that the Institute will be repeated this spring.

RECRUITING POSTER

The School still has several hundred copies of the poster prepared for recruiting purposes a year ago at the suggestion of members of the Alumni Association. These are available for distribution, and will be sent to Alumni who can place them on college bulletin boards and at other points where they will be likely to receive the attention of possible candidates for the Library School. This is the time of year to use them.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

Since the last number of Library School Notes was issued the members of the Alumni Council for the year have been appointed. They are Alice O'Connor, Chairman, 192 East Broadway, New York City, Katherine M. Christopher, Eleanor ff Duncan, Florence E. Foshay, Dorothy Goodrich, Bessie MacGregor, Susan M. Molleson, Johanna L. Olschewsky, Mary J. Schieffelin. The chairmen for the eighteen regions into which the membership of the Association is divided have also been designated, but because of lack of space their names are not printed here.
